Notes to Editors

The original Faringdon Breakfast Club was founded in 2004. The group was threatened with closure in 2007 when SEEDA funding was withdrawn from the Faringdon Enterprise Gateway. The members rallied and saved the group from closure. With the help of a voluntary organising committee, FBBC rebranded itself in May 2008 and now regularly attracts more than 20 people to its monthly meetings.

FBBC is unique in that the breakfast club is not owned by any person or organisation. There are no membership or joining fees. It is run by the members for mutual benefit. Any surplus funds are spent on promoting the group. Anyone attending the networking breakfast is deemed to be a member and eligible to have their profile included in the regular newsletter, and have their details in the members' directory on the FBBC website FOC.
